

15/9/95

Allow me to ask
dear Professor Saccardo whether in Italy any further measures are adopted against the devastations
from *Agaricus
melleus*, thus than indicated by Hartig Kirchner, Frank and Tuckett in their respective volumes

Perhaps minor
publications exist giving other means of coping
with this destructive fungus; and it is also difficult here at the antipodes to know whether perhaps in journals ~~new~~ remedies have re-

cushy heron
mended.

A. melleus ac-
curs here particularly in forests
and if rural plantations are formed
in clearing of wood lands, then on some places the mycelium will distroy through branching and
sucking the roots distroy many

Kind of trees,
such as Juglans Castanea &c.

I shall therefore most thankful to you for any special information which you may be able to afford from Italy.

Can I send you anything special
from here.

With respectful
remembrance yours
Andrew Melby