Prof. P. A. Saccardo:
Padua, Italy.

My dear Sir:

Take the liberty of enclosing a specimen of a fungus grown from horse-dung the position of which among the Hyphomycetes, where I imagine it belongs, I am very anxious to ascertain: and trust that you may be willing to aid me with your wide knowledge of fungus forms.
It is a very common species and must have been described: but I am quite unable to place it.

Hoping that you may favor me with an early reply
Very sincerely yours
Roland Thaxter.
