Dear Sir:-

I would respectfully call your attention to the JOURNAL of MYCOLOGY, which is now being issued quarterly. The first two Nos. for 1902 contain articles by Ellis and Everhart, Arthur, Morgan, and others. Some of the articles are, New Fungi from various localities, Notes on some Florida Myriostomas and Geasters, A New Genus of Fungi, Morchellae - The Morels, New Alabama Fungi, A new species of Rhytisma with plate, Cultures of Uredineae in 1900 and 1901, Ohio Fungi, Fascicles III and IV.

It includes also an Index to North American Mycology - an alphabetical list of Articles, Authors, Subjects, New Species and Hosts; the list for 1901 is already completed. This valuable index will be continued in successive Nos.

Portraits of eminent mycologists are included, one as a frontispiece to each No. Though devoted mainly to North American Mycology, it will doubtless be desired by Foreign Botanists. Shall I enroll your name on the subscription list?

Price to foreign subscribers one dollar and ten cents ($1.10)

Yours very Respectfully,

W. A. Kellerman
