Prof. P. A. Saccardo,
Via Luca Bellad. 15,
Padova. Italy.

Dear Prof. Saccardo:—

I beg to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the package of your published articles, which will be very valuable in our library and studies.

I wrote you in January, asking if you would favor me with one of your recent photographs. It is customary with me as you know, to present a photograph of some leading mycologist in every pamphlet I issue. Some years ago I printed your photograph, evidently taken when you were a young man, and I am sure the mycological world will be glad to have a photograph representing you in recent years. If you will favor me with a copy I will be glad to reproduce it in an early pamphlet. I am mailing you herewith a copy of the Geoglossaceae with a photograph of Prof. Durand. The superior facilities for printing we have, enable us to reproduce these photographs to almost as good advantage as a skilled photographer. It is immaterial if your photograph is not the exact size we use, for if small, we can have it enlarged
