My Dear Dr Saccardo:

I am sending you a specimen of Barley (Hordeum vulgare) leaf with a species of Helmintosporium on it.
This has proved a very destructive parasite. I do not think this is the H. graminum Robt. The conidia (spores) are larger and the spots are different.
In the H. graminum the leaves are variegated with yellow and green.
The spots of this species are circumscissile.

Yours truly
L. H. Pammel
